THE FLEETS.

The tip-toe expectations of pithy and sanguinary deeds in the West India seas by the rival fleets of Great Britain and France have passed off in disappointment. The tale of warlike operations is no longer heard from that quarter. The floating castles of both the contending parties have quitted the low latitudes; and where we shall next hear of their arrival is a matter of guess-work only.

It appears by a sea account, received at Salem, that the combined fleets was spoken at sea, the 28th June (23 days after it left Martinico;) the lat. and long. could not be ascertained.—It was then standing E. S. E.——Circumstances and calculations make it probable that it had then made two thirds of its passage to France. The English fleet under Lord Nelson has not been heard of since it left Antigua.

Lord Nelson, with 11 or 12 sail of the line, is unquestionably in pursuit of the French and Spanish fleets, under Admiral Villeneuve; but if he be in their wake, it must be remembered that he is at least seven or eight days sail astern of the enemy; and that a "stern chase is a long chase." The greater part of the Toulon squadron, too, are clean vessels, and prime sailers.

Captain Rowan informs us, that when he was spoken by them, though he had all his sails set, some of the men of war very easily outsailed him under their topsails. We therefore think the Hero of the Nile will not be gratified with a rencounter this cruize. It is however, possible the combined fleet, may yet be met with by another English fleet, which actually left the channel, in pursuit of them, the 21st of May.

This fleet was composed of the following ships, viz.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| San Josef | 110 | Vice Ad. Sir C. Cotton |
| Dreadnought | 98 | Rear Ad. Collingwood. |
| L'Achilles | 74 | Captain King |
| Bellerophon | 74 | ——— Cook |
| Mars | 74 | ——— Duff |
| Illustrious | 74 | ——— Shield |
| Colossus | 74 | ——— Morris |
| Ramilies | 74 | ——— Pickmore |
| Le Tonant | 84 | ——— Tyler |
| Raisonable | 64 | ——— Rowley & |
| Polyphemus | 64 | ——— Lawford |
| | | With the |
| Acosta frigate | 40 | ——— Dunn |

Two gun brigs, and A Cutter.

Should this fleet, which is stored and victualed for six months, chance to fall in with Vileneuve, a severe crash may be expected.

IMPRESSMENT of FISHERMEN.

We understand, that the English frigate Ville de Milan, captain Laurie, lately captured from the French, has recently Pressed Twelve or Fourteen men, from Salem, Beverly and Marblehead fishermen, on the banks.——The plea for this violation of the rights of a neutral State, is the French one, "imperious necessity;" and that the ship wanted hands. Measures have been taken by the friends of the unfortunate impressed men, to prove their citizenship, and to obtain their immediate release: to which we are happy to learn Mr. Allen the British Consul here, has given every facility in his power.

We trust a representation of this affair has been transmitted to Mr. Madison; & that such spirited measures will be taken therein, as would have been adopted under the Adams administration. A democratic paper hints to the administration, "to stop all intercourse with Great Britain immediately," and let the "Green Mountain Boys" march to Canada." But this does not happen to be Mr. Jefferson's fort.

Salt Mountain Melted.

A letter from Seth Hunt, Esq. Secretary of one of the Louisiana Departments, written since his arrival in the domain says, "The story of the Salt Mountain has no foundation in truth." It will be well for the people of the United States, if the Salt Mountain story be the only deception played off upon them respecting their Louisiana hard bargain.

July 25.

TO THE PUBLIC.

After fighting the battles of the republicans of New-England, with more zeal than ability, I am suddenly, and I think I may be allowed to add, ungratefully, compelled to retire from writing the editorial matter for the Independent Chronicle. The extraordinary causes which led to this secret direction of the bow-string, shall be circumstantially published. Being thus abruptly situated, I request all persons to whom I am indebted, to send their accounts—and all persons who are indebted to me to make immediate payment, to enable me to be just, before my departure from this town.

J. M. WILLIAMS,
Commonly called ANTHONY PASQUIN,
Boston, July 24, 1805, at Mr. Suter's, South-end.

P. S. The ostensible causes, as used by Mr. Adams to me, for this ungracious measure, are—First, that the federal editors have so injured my character, that there is an irresistible prejudice operating against me. The second reason is, that his country subscribers do not like the arguments of a FOREIGNER, in their behalf. It is certainly somewhat curious, in the order of policy, that the malediction of an opponent, should be embraced to destroy the credit of a friend! That the subscribers to the Chronicle, in the town as well as in the country, should not admire my arguments, is not very surprising; but that they should dislike them because I am a FOREIGNER, is rather singular; however, as I have left the concern much better than I found it, I trust the proprietors will not grievously lament the hour when I had the honor of acquiring their good will.

Alexandria Daily Advertiser.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 1.

Captain Dechamps, from Antigua, arrived at Norfolk, states, that an American vessel arrived there three days before he sailed, the captain of which informed him that he fell in with the French fleet in lat. 25—that two days after, he was boarded by an officer from lord Nelson's fleet. The French were steering more to the northward than lord Nelson.

The brig Sally, Tracy, arrived here on Saturday, left Bordeaux on the 9th of June, at which time no event of importance had occurred on the Theatre of European politics, The Rochefort squadron had got safe into port from the West Indies, and had sailed again on a recent expedition.

(N. Y. pap.)

Captain Clarke, late master of the brig Lion, came passenger in the sloop Atlantic from St. Croix, and has furnished us with the narrative of the loss of his vessel, which we shall publish in our next. Of eight passengers who were on board at the time of the accident, four were received by the ship Eliza Ann, of New York, for Europe, in 6 days after leaving the wreck; the remainder, (Mr. Peter Lantourue, Mr. Lalobere and his amiable daughter, & Mr. P. Jordan, a Spanish officer) with James Buchanan, the cabin boy were drowned.

Capt. Robinson from Digby informs that on the 13th inst. the schooner Argo, Harris, arrived there from Antigua, in distress that she sailed in co. with the homeward bound Antigua fleet, consisting of about thirty sail, and that the next day after sailing the whole fleet was captured by four frigates detached from the combined French and Spanish fleets, and were all burnt.—The schooner Argo was bound to New York, but having been robbed by the frigates of most of her cargo, and nearly the whole of her provisions and two of her seamen, after four days detention they released her on account of her having on board an American sea letter. The frigates then stood off to the N. E.

There is a striking difference in the modes of expression currently used to denote the death of different descriptions of persons. They whose names make up the ordinary bill of mortality, are said to have died or paid the debt of nature. The capital convict is always launched into eternity. The suicide as constantly puts an end to his existence. These expressions are by no means of equal import. In the first there is no allusion to a future state, in the second it is expressly avowed. In the third it is implicitly, if not directly denied. A stranger would be at a loss to judge, from this phraseology, what is the creed of our country, in one of its most important articles.

TRIPOLITAN CAPTIVITY.

A letter from Jonathan Cowdery, esq. surgeon of the late frigate Philadelphia, now a captive in Tripoli, to Dr. Mitchell, dated 24th November, 1804.

"DEAR SIR,

"I hope you will excuse me for the liberty I take in suggesting to you a few remarks which have occurred since my captivity. The bashaw has taken me from the prison where my fellow officers are confined and ordered me to attend his sick slaves who are principally Neapolitans, negroes, and our unfortunate crew. Some of the latter I this morning saw chained to a cart loaded with stones which they were dragging through the town to repair the fortifications. They complain much of hunger, cold, hard labor, and the lash of the whip. I confess I never saw any thing that wounded my feelings equal to the sight of those poor fellows. I have liberty to walk in the town, but am attended by a Turk who is loaded with weapons of war. I am not allowed to visit any of the fortifications nor any of the foreign consuls. Captain Bainbridge's endeavors to relieve the wants of his crew are often countermanded by our new masters. Five of our countrymen have turned Turks, and five have paid their last debt to nature. Diarhœa and dysentery have often appeared among our crew, but on a free use of Carbonate of Soda (Vatron) which is found in abundance in this country, and often whitewashing the walls of the prison with lime where they sleep, it soon disappears. Our crew are now very healthy.

"During the several attacks upon this town by our squadron under the command of commodore Prebie, many Turks were killed and wounded, and several men much burnt by the explosion of their own powder. I had an opportunity of seeing their method of curing burns in particular, many of which extended over the whole body. The bashaw has all of his wounded brought to an apartment in the castle where he visits them and makes them a present of ten dollars each. He then orders his surgeons and Mamelukes to dress their wounds; he often assists with his own hands. The Mamelukes are his body guards; the Marabouts are employed to expel evil spirits and make intercession with Mahomet their prophet, for their recovery. Those that were burnt, were first anointed with honey, carefully preserving the skin as much as possible and keeping the parts exposed to the air. They then sprinkled the ulcered parts, if any, with a fine powder of white-lead (Cerusse); this is repeated at short intervals until a scab is formed, that is carefully preserved until a cure is accomplished, which is remarkably soon.

"I hope and expect that in due time my country will honorably, and to the astonishment of Barbarians, and tyrants, liberate us from the chains of slavery, and restore us to our native land, that happy land the thoughts of which is a healing balm to our souls in their miserable bondage.

[Extracts from London papers to the 6th of June—received at the office of the New-York Gazette.]

LONDON, June 5.

A paper of yesterday (the Times) contains the following article:

"The case of Mr. Osborne Markham, or rather of the navy and admiralty boards, with regard to that gentleman, engrosses the attention of the political circles. Mr. Markham is (or was a very few days ago) one of the commissioners of the Navy Board. When this seat was offered him, he left the bar, and resigned the chancellorship of the See of York, and a commissionership of bankrupts. Dissapproving of the transactions of the navy board, he expressed his the navy board, he expreſſed himſelf with freedom and dignity at that table, which produced a complaint to lord Melville, the firſt lord of the admiralty, to whom his colleague repreſented, as a great grievance, that he had abſolutely preſumed to make notes or memorandums of the proceedings of the board. Lord Melville, upon inſpection of theſe notes, was pleaſed to expreſs his approbation of them, but at the ſame time to diſpenſe with Mr. Markham's attendance at the board for a ſhort term. Upon lord Barham's coming into office, a deſign has been nearly perfected for forcing Mr. Markham to exchange his ſeat at the navy board, which is a patent place for life, and of a conſiderable dignity, for a ſituation at the tranſport board (an inferior and dependent board, and which has only a temporary exiſtence.) Mr. Markham has repeatedly, in conferences, and by letters to his majeſty's miniſters, decidedly refuſed to accept this offer; notwithſtanding which lord Barham has proceeded in obtaining his majeſty's conſent, and the new patents have been made out. Mr. Markham remaining firm, the admiralty board have not ventured to ſeal the patent. Mr. Markham remains ſuſpended, and the matter will be brought before parliament. Mr. Markham is ſon of the archbiſhop of York, and brother to admiral Markham, lady Mansfield, &c. &c.

The Britiſh have 112 ſhips of the line in commiſſion, 20 fifties, 134 frigates, and 426 ſloops.

In the Britiſh houſe of commons on the 30th May, Mr. Whitbread obſerved that on account of the neceſſary delay in printing the papers reſpecting lord Melville, he felt it neceſſary to put off his motion for impeachment, until Tueſday (June 4.)

Mr. Pitt ſaid he underſtood the gentleman had two objects in view—one the impeachment of lord M. the other, certain reſolutions concerning himſelf (Mr. P.) He was anxious any charge intended to be brought againſt him ſhould be brought to a deciſion as ſpeedily as poſſible.

Mr. Whitbread ſaid he ſhould adhere to the order he had laid down of moving the impeachment firſt; and that he would be prepared to bring forward the other motions as ſoon after as the houſe ſhould ſit.

Mr. Laſcelles ſaid there were three points which might be made the grounds of reſolutions againſt Mr. Pitt—all tending to accuſe him of being privy to ſome of the irregular tranſactions of lord Melville, but there was not a ſhadow of ſuſpicion of his having derived any advantage therefrom.

The ſameneſs of jacobin principles and practices, in France and in the United States.

PART 1.

In an early ſtage of the French Revolution, a Jacobin ſociety ſprung up in Paris; which proved the "mother of harlots and abomination," as well in this country, as in France. Its profeſſions were loud and noiſy, and highly patriotic. While its pretended object was, to overlook and watch the conſtituted authorities, it was its real object to graſp and concentrate all power in its own hands. This it ſoon accompliſhed; inſomuch that the national convention and all the conſtituted authorities, were degraded into tools, or paſſive inſtruments of that ſociety. The Jacobin club made the laws for the nation, and ſent them to the national convention to be regiſtered. A ſelf created junto of ambitious daring men, convened in midnight caucus, held in their hands the lives and fortunes of thirty millions of people;—who, meanwhile were ſo bewitched with flattery, as to conſider this junto the great bulwark of their rights.

On the 9th of October, 1794, the national convention publiſhed an addreſs to the French people; wherein they characteriſed the Jacobin club at Paris, in the following manner:—"They (the Jacobins) are continually proclaiming the rights of the people, but reſerve the exerciſe of thoſe rights for themſelves."—"They call themſelves the friends of the people, and they love only to dominate;—they ſpeak of the rights of the people, and they aim only to rob them of their rights." The convention added, "No private authority, or Society, is the People, or ought to act or ſpeak in their name."

We cannot forbear requeſting our readers to compare the character which the convention has here given of the French Jacobins, with the character and conduct of ſome of the leading genuine republicans and moſt flaming patriots, in our own country. The latter alſo are continually proclaiming the rights of the people, and calling themſelves the friends of the people: they ſpeak and act in the name of the people, and ſeemingly pretend even that they are the people. Who (unleſs wilfully blind) does not perceive from the courſe of their conduct, that their aim is to controul the conſtituted authorities of this country, and to bend the whole nation to their own views; who does not perceive that their aim is power and ſelf aggrandiſement?

Theſe artful and ambitious men 'are ſnares and traps' to our nation: they are 'ſcourges in its ſides, and thorns in its eyes.' The flattery they beſtow upon the people, is like the crouching of the tyger when prepairing to leap upon his prey. They are tyrants at heart: and if they ſhould accompliſh their ambitious objects, they would ſoon ſay to the befooled people, ſtand ye here; or ſet ye here under our footſtool.

From the Boſton Repertory.

Nine in ten and perhaps ninety nine in a hundred of the democrats have no other reaſon for liking the preſent order of things than this; our party they ſay is now uppermoſt. The power of party ſeems to them the life and health of the public liberty. Two things are neceſſary ſaid a democrat, to my being free, that I ſhould do juſt as I like, and that I ſhould make every body do ſo too. The rabble of a party may be naturally enough the dupes of that opinion, but the knowing ones begin to perceive that the power of party is the ſlavery of the ſtate and the ſure deſtruction of moſt of the once triumphant leaders of faction. M'Kean is near falling though he ſtands his ground and ſcorns to flee. Jefferſon flees when no one purſues, for he perceives that the Dantons will riſe up againſt the Briſſotins, or Girondiſts, therefore he will not be a candidate. It is not ſtrange that the jacobins are ready to divide and quarrel. The firſt combination is a looſe one, and on the change of circumſtances their league diſſolves of courſe.

The dread of ſeeing Britiſh creditors armed with the power of law produced a ſtrong oppoſition in Virginia to the new conſtitution. Governor Clinton then hoped to ſee the middle ſtates form a ſeparate confederacy, of which he expected to be the chief. This idea was then inculcated in the anti-federal publications. One union was alledged to bee too vaſt for a free republic. To take off the force of this objection nothing remained but to make the union leſs, or to cut it up into ſeveral confederacies. Accordingly governor Clinton prevailed upon New York to refuſe the five per cent impoſt to the old congreſs, and almoſt ſucceeded to get the new conſtitution rejected. It was however agreed to.

The anti-federal faction was notwithſtanding ſo powerful, and was moreover animated by intereſts and feelings of ſuch a ſort, that the oppoſition to the new government was formidable from the very firſt. The extraordinary popularity and conſumate prudence of Waſhington, for a time baffled their attempts. Virginia had not been idle it appeared, when this great man retired from the helmn. She had fomented a faction in every ſtate, and in ſome of them gained a preponderance. In eighteen hundred it was agreed by the jacobins to make col. Burr, vice-preſident if he would bring over the votes of New York. This was effected and Jefferſon became preſident. But that great ſtate was far from tranquil. The Livingſton faction had patched up a peace with the Clintonians and both were willing to be rid of col. Burr, who hated both parties as much as they hated him and each other. In fact the jacobin body is compoſed by the union of vinegar and oil, and the parts are already obeying the laws of repulſion.—Whether any good is to come out of their diſcord is very doubtful. But none was expected from their political friendſhip. In old Rome the factions that grew out of the rivalſhips of Caeſar, Pompey, and Craſſus, were often lamented. It is not their mutual enmity ſaid Cato, it is their friendſhip, meaning their triumvirates, that will be the moſt fatal to the republic. It proved fatal to the republic and to themſelves. Jefferſon and M'Kean are already warned. Let the other leaders take warning, popularity is a Sphynx that embraces its favorites to death.

QUERIES.

How long will it be before we ſhall hear of col. Burr being at the head of a revolution party on the weſtern waters?

Is it a fact that col. Burr has formed a plan to engage the adventurous and enterprizing young men from the Atlantic ſtates to come into Louiſiana?

Is it one of the inducements that an immediate convention will be called from the ſtates bordering on the Ohio and Miſſiſſippi, to form a ſeparate government?

Is it another that all the public lands are to be ſeized and patronized among thoſe ſtates, except what is reſerved for the warlike friends and followers of Burr in the revolution?

Is it part of the plan for the new ſtates to grant theſe lands in bounties to entice inhabitants from the Atlantic ſtates?

How ſoon will the forts and magazines, and all the military poſts at N. Orleans and the Miſſiſſippi be in the hands of col. Burr's revolution party?

How ſoon will col. Burr engage in the reduction of Mexico, by granting liberty to its inhabitants and ſeizing on its treaſures, aided by Britiſh ſhips and forces?

What difficulty can there be in completing a revolution in one ſummer, among the weſtern ſtates, with the four temptations. 1ſt. Of all the congreſs land—2d. Throwing off the public debt—3d. Seizing on their own commercial revenues—4th. Spaniſh plunder in conjunction with the Britiſh?

Highway Robbery!

1500 Dollars Reward.

YESTERDAY, about 11 o'clock in the forenoon, Mr. JOHN PETER, an officer of the Bank of COLUMBIA, was ſtopped on horſeback on the road between this town and Alexandria, and within about two miles of the latter place, by ſome unknown villain, ſhot through the body with a piſtol, and robbed of a ſum of money in his poſſeſſion belonging to this Inſtitution, which he was taking to Alexandria, for the purpoſe of exchanging with the Bank there.

The whole ſum taken amounted to Eighteen Thouſand One Hundred and Fourteen Dollars and Sixty-five Cents, made up in packages—among which were

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1 | Poſt Note of the Bank of Virginia, for | 800 dollars |
| 1 | ditto of the Bank of Alexandria for | 500 |
| 1 | ditto of the ſame for | 500 |
| 1 | ditto of the ſame for | 450 |
| 1 | ditto of the Bank of Potomac, | 149 65 cents. |

A Check of the Union Bank, on the Bank of Alexandria, drawn by R. Higinbotham, Caſhier in favor of Greetham and Deverau, by them endorſed and by Benjamin Stoddert, and C. Smith, Teller.

There were alſo a parcel of Poſt Notes of the Bank of Alexandria for 100 dollars and for 50 dollars each. The remainder was in current notes, principally of the banks of Alexandria and Potomac, and ſome few of the Bank of Virginia of different ſizes and denominations.

As the ATTACK was SUDDEN, and the WOUND received of a nature to deprive Mr. Peter inſtantly of his ſenſes, (although it is now hoped he will recover) the deſcription obtained may not be very accurate. As far as we are informed, the man who perpetrated the act, is of middle ſtature, good countenance, and had a genteel appearance. He had on a dark blue or black coat, nankeen pantaloons, ſhoes, and a black hat; he was on FOOT and ALONE at the time, but may have had accomplices concealed, and will probably change his clothes.

FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS will be given to any perſon or perſons, who will detect and bring to conviction the ROBBER: and ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS additional for the recovery of the whole of the money, or in proportion for any ſmaller ſum recovered. Should there be accomplices, and one of them make a diſcovery, ſo that it leads to the conviction of the robber, or to the recovery of the money, he ſhall receive the ABOVE REWARD, and intereſt will be made to obtain his PARDON.

The following Valuable Medicines:

Dr. Rawson's Anti-Bilious and Stomachel Bitters.

PREPARED BY

THOMAS H. RAWSON,

THESE Bitters have undoubtedly had the most rapid sale of any Patent Medicine ever before discovered, and are justly appreciated for their singular and uncommon virtues for restoring weak and decayed constitutions, and all that train of complicated complaints so common in the spring and fall seasons, such as intermittant Fevers and Agues, long Autumnal Fevers, Dysenteries, &c. They are also a very pleasant bitter for common use, and where they are known they have taken the place and superceded the use of all other bitters in public houses as well as in private families.—Price 50 cents a box.

Dr. Lee's (Windham Billious Pills.

THE great sale and increasing demand for these valuable pills for these twelve years past, bespeak their intrinsic worth. They have proved singularly efficacious in Billious and Yellow fevers, Jaundice, Head Aachs, Dysenteries, Billious Cholic, Costiveness, Female complaints, &c.

The very great demand and high esteem in which these pills are held throughout the United States and the West Indies, has induced many to counterfeit them; the purchaser is requested to observe that the name of Samuel Lee, jun. (the patentee) is affixed to each bill of directions, in his own hand writing, or they will not be genuine. Price 50 cents a box.

A certain and safe application for that disagreeable complaint called the ITCH. Price 42 cents a box.

Dr. Rawson's Anti Billious Pills,

or, Family Physic.

The extraordinary celebrity these pills have gained, the universal demand for them and esteem in which they are held by medical men of the first eminence, are sufficient testimonials of their intrinsic worth. In great colds and sudden attacks of disorders, an early use of these pills often produces the happiest effects, and taken once in eight or ten days in cases of indigestion, headach, dizziness, pains in the stomach and bowels, dysenteries, diarrhœas, dropsies, &c. and a liberal use of my anti billious bitters in the intermediate time has relieved patients almost to a miracle,—price 25 cents a box.

Polygraphick Painting.

THIS art, so long kept a secret and exclusively practised by the Polygraphick Society in London, is now in the possession of a Citizen of the United States lately arrived from Europe; who proposes to execute by subscription, two hundred copies from an original Allegorical Painting in the Shakespeare Gallery, New-York, by permission of the Proprietor: being

WASHINGTON,

Supported by LIBERTY, VIRTUE, and JUSTICE. VIRTUE is holding the emblem of the reward he merited. In the right of the piece, AMERICA, characterised as an Ab-original, is seated in a pensive posture, lamenting her loss. In the left is PAINTING turned to HISTORY, for a subject worthy of her art, who is supposed to answer,

'There is none more worthy than Washington.'

The whole forming a more emblematical tribute to the memory of that great man, than has yet been offered to the public.

To those who esteem his public services and his private worth, and to the patrons of improvements in the fine arts, this work is dedicated. Such as are already furnished with different engravings on this subject, will, it is hoped, still find room for the present undertaking, when they consider, that it will be a PAINTING, and the design new, executed by a process, which renders it more durable than oil paintings—that it requires no glass—that while their prints contain, perhaps but a resemblance only, this work affords a correct likeness, with the addition of six beautiful allegorical figures—The price also is reduced so as to leave, comparative merits, no object.

Subscriptions, at Eight Dollars each, payable on delivery, (which is little more than the price of an engraving of the same size) are received by Conrad & Co. Booksellers, Philadelphia; Robert Gray, Alexandria; Kapine, Conrad and Co. Capitol-hill City of Washington; and generally by Booksellers throughout the Union; who will please to return their Subscription papers to Conrad and Co. Philadelphia, previous to the first of November next, when the work will be ready for delivery.

Frames will be procured, of any pattern, if required, on the most moderate terms.

☞ IT IS ALSO PROPOSED TO EXECUTE A

PORTRAITS

Of Mr. and Mrs. Washington,

On a smaller scale, 15 inches by 12; executed by the same process, and will be ready for delivery at the same time, on subscriptions of Four Dollars and Fifty Cents each, including a Gilt Frame. It is a principal aim of this work, to produce the most correct likenesses of this amiable couple,

One of the Paintings is now to be seen at Mr. Gadsby's Hotel, for a few days, who will receive subscriptions. As this copy is ordered to be sent to Richmond soon, another will be forwarded, if subscribers offer, to Robert Gray's, King-street Alexandria, with whom subscribers may also enter their names.

☞ The Artist presumes that the secret art of Polygraphick Painting is known only to himself in the U. States; having travelled from the Carolines to Massachusetts without finding a master of it. By this art, original paintings may be multiplied, so as to render it difficult to point out the difference. The Polygraphick picture, of the two, when compared together, is the most brilliant, and the nature of the process cannot fail rendering it more durable. In fine the whole is so exact and beautiful a copy, that the mind is lost in conjecture as to the method in which it is executed.

July 3.
